ONLY REPUBLICAN PAPER IN THE COUNTY.

FRIDAY, - - - MAY 18, 1873

If Captain Jack is to, the poor Indian, and gets "high," he is high, L. & Jack, and undoubtably Game.

The Democrats are looking around for sand-dates to be supported at the next State election. THOMAS E. W. - for Governor, RICHARD R. SLOANE for Lieutenant Governor, and ISAIAH PILLARS for Attorney General, are the prospective candidates most prominently mentioned.

The New York Tribune gives the following figures as the prices of prime truck horses in that city: Over 16 hands high, weighing over 1,500 lbs., $200 to $200; over 16 hands high and weighing over 1,500 lbs., $350 to $400. Ordinary draft horses sold from $150 to $200 a head, and railroad and stage horses at about $135 each.

The farmers' grain in Iowa are said to number 1,000,000 bushels. These are held by hundred thousand voters in the State. The Groups, a paper published in Washington, Iowa, declares that the leading principle of the organization are "eternal and unshakable opposition to monopoly abuses, extravagant appropriations of the people's money, and to all salary steals." That is a very good platform, so far as it goes, and it has a strong party to back it.

A correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, who recently travelled in Canada, has found the "young men" warmly in favor of annexation to the United States. The exposures of the New York Tribune correspondent, who has travelled in the Dominion is that the young men favor of annexation to the United States are generally proceeding to annex themselves without waiting for the country. The same is the case with the young women.

The Toledo, Wabash & Western Railroad Company have laid $10,000,000 of 7 per cent. Gold-making bonds for the purpose of covering the road with steel rails. The increasing business of the road, together with the opening of the Canada-Southern in a few weeks, which will give it a new and much needed eastern outlet, render necessary the substitution of steel for iron rails. The heads are laid especially to defray the cost of improvement.

The District Court at Ironon, Ohio, on the 23d of April, allowed Mrs. MARY LEWIS her claim for damages, to the amount of $2,000 against THOMAS EVANS, for selling liquor to her husband. This was the case carried up to the higher court, where Mary Lewis got $5,000 damages against Evans for selling liquor to her husband, who sometimes ate, in fits of delirium, got out of bed and wandered round in the walls about two days, and was found dead.

Constitutional Convention.
The Constitutional Convention assembled at Columbus Tuesday and effected a permanent organization by naming Monroe K. Webb, Esq., of Toledo, as permanent President, Daniel M. Ruone, of Delaware, Secretary, and James B. Wizner, of Cleveland, Sergeant-at-Arms.

Board of Public Works.
The name of George W. Berwick, Esq., of our neighboring village across the river, is being prominently mentioned by his friends in the Northwest for a place on the Republican State ticket as a candidate for Member of the Board of Public Works. As a large per cent. of the public works are located in this section of the State, the Northwest have just claims to a representative, and there are probably none more conversant and better qualified to discharge the duties of that office than Mr. KEYNO. We should be pleased, therefore, to see the delegates from the Northwest press their claims upon the consideration of the Convention.

State Convention.
The Republican State Convention will assemble at Columbus on Wednesday next. It has a duty to perform in the passage of resolutions which we trust it will not overlook. Let them be clear and unmistakable in their meaning, then give us a good ticket, and we have no fears of the result.

We publish below the names of delegates and alternates from this county:

Delegates.
E. M. BAILY, S. E. BENNETT,
Robert Stewart, Harrison Hoffman
C. C. HUM, Jacob Keifer
A. Ordway, Edwin Teller
N. J. Harper, J. Reid of Webster
J. K. Phillips, Fayette Chapman

Honor After Horror.

To Dixon here, of which mention is made in the news and dispatches on the first page, also full graphic account, has been rightly termed "wholesale murder." The Truesell bridge have been repeatedly condemned, but still the Company persist in building them. Why should not the builders as well as the authorities who awarded them the contract, be held responsible for murder?

Following this terrible calamity is now coming the sickening details from Halling of a colliery explosion on Tuesday, in which 50 men are known to have lost their lives. The fire caught from a flask of gunpowder and the men remained to put it out, when an explosion of the gases took place and all in the pit are supposed to have been instantly killed. The fire continued to rage and in one of the frequent explosions that have been following at intervals, one man was thrown from the pit to the light of 100 feet and landed in the woods near.

One of the Remedies.

It is one of the most encouraging signs that men of well known abilities and the highest character appear in plain terms of the great political questions of our times and endeavor to direct the public mind towards a remedy for the pestilent evils which are destroying the life of republican institutions.

A week ago last Sunday President WOHLER, of Yale college, opened the forty-seventh anniversary of the American Home Missionary Society with a sermon at the Tabernacle in New York. A brief report of his discourse appears in the columns of the New York Tribune. His text was the words, "Yes, we are unto me if I preach not the gospel," and he appealed for liberal aid to home missions, especially with a view to the promulgation of the gospel among the settlers and pioneers of the western frontier. But he felt how formal and hollow that Christianity must be which shrink from recognition of the flagrant evils prevalent in high places, and he urged the increase of missionary labor in the west, especially on the ground that in so vast a sea of sound principles in the new settlements would be one of the best means of thwarting national corruption.

He said: "I have got on twelve commercial travelers into eleven bed rooms, and yet have given each a separate room. Here we have the eleven bed rooms:

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11

"Now," said she, "if two of you gentlemen will go into No. 1 bed room, and wait there a few minutes, I'll find a spare room for one or two more, now as I've shown the others the other rooms."

Well, now, having thus bated two gentlemen in No. 1, she put the third in No. 2, the fourth in No. 3, the fifth in No. 4, the sixth in No. 5, the seventh in No. 6, the eighth in No. 7, the ninth in No. 8, the tenth in No. 9, the eleventh in No. 10, and the twelfth in No. 11.

There you will remember also to find the two gentlemen along with the first, and that the two travelers were the only ones left in the house.

They have accommodated all the rest, and have still got room for two more, if you will please to stay in No. 11, rest fit for it is.

The two men had got their room. Of course, there is a hole in the spongean somewhere, but the reader is advised to examine the following for the following, as well as a warning to the travelers before deciding as to which of it's travelers was the old man out."
